Campus Redevelopment update

We are now in a position to be able to share with you that the master planning stage for expansion of Papamoa College has been approved in principle by the Ministry of Education property design team.

This is good news and although there is still a significant amount of design work that is required, construction of additional learning spaces will begin in the middle of next year. As previously mentioned one of the first areas of development will be too close-in the bridge area at the centre of the school. This will create much needed flexible learning spaces to serve mostly learning in the Middle School Years 7-10. We also anticipate that the Library will be reinstated, be increased in size, and provide improved information facilities.

To accommodate immediate student roll growth, we will be having five relocatable buildings brought onto campus for the start of next year. These will be positioned at the end of the current Senior Block. As new parts of the school will be constructed, we will work hard to minimise any impact to student learning and teaching.

Although we are only at the beginning of the development we are excited about the future opportunities and possibilities for our campus. Once specific details and plans are available we will publish them for your interest.

Regards

Steve Lindsey
Principal

Kapa Haka Perform at Hauraki Festival

The Papamoa College kapa haka team Te Rae o Papamoa have engaged in an intense campaign since term two getting ready for the 45th Hauraki Cultural Festival. Three terms and hundreds of hours of preparation, blood, sweat and tears were all evidenced in their performance on Saturday 28 October at Ngahutoitoi Marae, Paeroa. Wet weather didn't dampen spirits as over 25 different Kohanga Reo, primary and secondary schools and adults competed in the festival, which is one of the oldest Kapa Haka events in New Zealand. Spokesperson Caroline Karu said there were 14 Kohanga Reo and primary performances on October 27, followed by another 14 performances by seniors and adults on October 28. The performance of Te Rae o Papamoa was comprised of haka, waiata and poi, with elaborate choreography, which was dynamic and powerful. The 7 items in the routine have been performed since 2014 - Most of the waiata were composed by the late Awanuiarangi Black, as were all the haka. The campaign has included rigorous training sessions, and Marae noho where kapa haka wananga prepared the students wairua and finana whilst building whanaungatanga. Between 3 May and 28 October, the students spent over 157 hours learning and practicing.

The dedication required to attend lunch time/after school/ and specialised Marae noho is a massive undertaking by students and families alike. Specialist training was provided by Ngati Pukenga kai haka, and Tutara Kauika Kai Haka - Nga Potiki/Ngai Te Rangi. The costumes were designed by Whaea Nia, and were inspired by the tukutuku panels in Romainohorangi, the colours were taken from Papamoa College decor.

Students from year 7 to 13 competed side by side. Though the senior students were accruing NCEA accreditation via Maori Performing Arts Level 3, the roopu was made up of 8 seniors, 10 UMS and 8 LMS. Many of the year 7 and 8s have developed a passion for kapa haka which they believe they will have for life. Jovan Petley from Puna Wai Commons and Milah Ririnui from Puke Commons, said that kapa haka had taken over their whole lives. They didn't have time for other extra curricular activities, but they didn't mind at all. Jovan said that kapa haka gave her more confidence; she knew who she was and where she came from when she did kapa haka. They were both so amazed that they could get enough confidence to sing in front of other people. Whilst kapa haka had been the focus for the whole year, Jovan was looking forward to playing touch over summer. Kaiako Melis Kapene and Nia Finau are delighted with the new students' dedication and integrity, ngakau pono. A senior student said that as he was raised overseas he was whakamaa about everything Maori and that kapa haka has empowered him. He said that when they were working together he could feel the collective wairua and that the sentiment of their message was more powerful because of this. Hinekura Edwards and brother Michael-Xander both from Awa learning commons, come from a dedicated kapa haka whanau. Their mum too performs for a local group. Hinekura said "kapa haka is my life."
